Strategy

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital, with income as a secondary objective, by investing in companies attractively ranked by the Adviser's comprehensive value-centric ranking process. This process incorporates intrinsic value analysis as well as factors predictive of stock price outperformance: measures of valuation, business momentum, investor sentiment and management IQ. This multivariate approach to valuation expands the "value" universe beyond that used by many traditional value managers, enabling ownership of desirable investments which may be absent from other value strategies.

Fund Highlights

The investment team seeks to add value by bottom-up security selection.

The search for attractive value investments is not constrained by benchmark or arbitrary sector, market-cap or geographic parameters. Up to 35% of the Fund's assets may be invested in companies outside the U.S.

Manager Commentary

- » The Value Equity Fund had a strong quarter, finishing the full year well ahead of the Russell 1000 Value benchmark. The Fund performed in-line with the benchmark in the most recent quarter.
- » During the quarter, strong selection benefited the fund in the Industrials, Consumer Discretionary, Utilities, Energy and Consumer Staples sectors. Less positive selection in Information Technology, Materials, Real Estate and Health Care detracted marginally.
- » New positions were added in Husky Energy (Canadian integrated energy company), Devon Energy (American natural gas and petroleum exploration) and Lincoln National (insurance and investment management).
- » Check Point Software was sold to harvest a substantial long term gain after reduced guidance from management. Cemex and Celgene were both sold because company fundamentals did not hold to our expectations.
- » For the calendar year, the fund benefited from strong security selection in the Industrial and Health Care sectors, as well as a helpful overweight position in the Technology sector and an underweight in the Telecom sector. Security selection in the Materials and Financials sectors was a drag on relative performance. The strongest performing sectors during the year were Health Care, Technology, and Industrials, while the weakest sectors were Energy, Materials, and Telecom.

¹The Fund's adviser (the "Adviser") has contractually agreed to waive its management fee and/or reimburse expenses so that total annual operating expenses (excluding (i) interest; (ii) taxes; (iii) brokerage fees and commissions; (iv) other extraordinary expenses not incurred in the ordinary course of the Fund's business; (v) dividend expenses on short sales; (vi) indirect expenses such as acquired fund fees and expenses; and (vii) expenses incurred under a Rule 12b-1 plan of distribution) do not exceed 1.00% of the Fund's average daily net assets through December 31, 2018. During any fiscal year that the Investment Advisory Agreement between the Adviser and Capitol Series Trust is in effect, the Adviser may recoup the sum of all fees previously waived or expenses reimbursed during any of the previous three (3) fiscal years, less any reimbursement previously paid, if such recoupment can be achieved within the foregoing expense limits. To the extent that any fees previously waived or expenses previously reimbursed are still recoverable under the expense cap agreement more than three (3) years after the date of the applicable fee waiver or expense reimbursement, the amount of such outstanding potential recoupment shall be booked as a liability of the Fund. This expense cap agreement may be terminated by the Board of Trustees (the "Board") at any time.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Funds will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

Given the significant differences between separately managed accounts and mutual funds, investors should consider the differences in expenses, tax implications and the overall objectives between separately managed accounts and mutual funds before investing.
